

SOME VACATION THOUGHTS.

The year a book is, and each page a day ;
Ah ! what transcendent victory were it
If 'gainst thy name, on all the long array,
Some deed of love and charity were writ.

—Clinton Scollard.

Do thy duty, that is best,
Leave unto the Lord the rest.

Whene'er a task is set for you,
Don't idly sit and view it—
Nor be content to wish it done ;
Begin at once and do it.

Beautiful hands are those that do
Work that is honest, brave and true,
Moment by moment, the long day through.

NOBILITY.

True worth is in being, not seeming,—
In doing each day that goes by
Some little good—not in dreaming
Of great things to do by and by.
For whatever men say in blindness,
And spite of the fancies of youth,
There's nothing so kingly as kindness,
And nothing so royal as truth.

We get back our mete as we measure—
We cannot do wrong and feel right,
Nor can we give pain and gain pleasure,
For justice avenges each slight.
The air for the wing of the sparrow,
The bush for the robin and wren,
But alway the Path that is narrow
And straight, for the children of men.
